

Knowledge That Makes a Difference

Visit www.actcommunity.ca

Call 604-205-5467 / 1-866-939-5188

Email info@actcommunity.ca

This person has Autism

ASD is diagnosed in 1 of 29 children

Autism is a lifelong neurodevelopmental condition that affects how a person processes information, including how they experience their sensory environment. Because people with autism sometimes communicate differently, they may struggle in social situations and become distressed when seeking social connections. Autism is a spectrum that manifests differently among individuals, and people with autism can have many unique skills and capabilities. Thank you for your understanding and acceptance.

Live & Webstreamed Events: actcommunity.ca/events

Evidence-informed training opportunities featuring provincial and international experts on a range of topics.

AID Search: aid.actcommunity.ca

An online portal that allows users to search information resources, community resources, research, and autism news articles.

B.C. Community Resources: actcommunity.ca/bcresources

Community resources, events, new diagnosis hub, transition to adulthood, and much more.

Tailored Targeted Training: actcommunity.ca/training

Our training is adapted to serve distinct cohorts.

Videos: actcommunity.ca/videos

ACT's online library offers videos covering diverse autism topics.